My dear Harriet,

I have received yours of yesterday & decline to [frank] the yarn. The privilege was not given to Ex Presidents for such purposes. The size of the package would be considerable. Besides, you can buy it in Philadelphia for a trifle.

I saw Harry Magraw yesterday at his own house. He is considerably thinner than he was; but looks healthy. Robert came with him. He <sup>Henry</sup> inquired kindly after you.

I have heard nothing of the harnesses & do not expect to hear.

We are getting along very pleasantly & Robert Nevin is quite agreeable.

With my love to all I remain

Yours affectionately

James Buchanan

Miss Harriet R Lane

P.S. You will have seen by Mr. Glossbrenner's letter that I shall not go to York until Thursday next.
