

Lancaster 30th October 1840

My dear Madam,

I shall go to Philadelphia, God willing, on Wednesday next for the purpose of attending on Dr. Gardette: and it affords me sincere pleasure to accept your kind invitation to stay a day or two under your hospitable roof. All I dread is that the number of my visitors may incommode you; but as the election will then have been over, they will probably not be so numerous.

I shall be with you on Wednesday evening by the second train of cars & shall dine upon the road.

Please to remember me very kindly to the ladies of your family & to Mr. Van Dyke, & believe me to be ever most

Sincerely & respectfully

Your friend

Mrs. Anne Kittera
