

My dear sir,

The above discharges your bill against Miss Yates, except 8 ½ cents which I will pay you when we meet up. I never keep an account of cents in Bank.

With my kindness regards for Mrs. Frueauff & Miss Theodora, I remain very respectfully

My dear sir,

Should the day be clear, I shall send for Miss Hobbes, Miss Dow & the Miss Laumans on Saturday morning next, having already received your kind permission. I would send my niece Miss Lane with the carriage; but I fear there might not be room. My driver Mr. John Ford, however, is careful & respectable man to whom you may safely trust the young ladies. I shall send them back again on whatever day you may appoint; but I trust you will allow them to remain with me at least until Tuesday & as much long as you may think proper.

My dear Sir,

I would have sooner expressed my acknowledgements to you for your kind invitation to attend the musical performances by your pupils on Thursday evening last, had I not anticipated the pleasure of thanking you in person. The afternoon, however, was so unfavorable that our party were prevented from going.

With my kindest complements to Mrs. Frueauff, I remain very respectfully your friend.

My dear Sir,

I would afford it a great pleasure if you would persuade Miss Theodora, the Miss Laumans & my niece Miss Yates to pay us a visit. I could send for them either on Thursday or Friday next, or the Thursday or Friday of next week. I trust you may grant this request. My two nieces & myself will afford them a cordial welcome.

My dear Sir,

This will be delivered to you by Miss Harriet Parker who goes to Litiz [Lititz] tomorrow with a pupil for your school. I am well acquainted with Miss Parker and know her to be a most respectable & worthy lady & her connexions [connections] in Philadelphia are very deserving & much respected people. She is the sister of Miss Parker who has so long resided with me & with whom you are acquainted.

I need not ask you to treat her with civility and kindness for you could not not otherwise if you were to try.

My dear Sir,

I have this moment received your kind invitation of to day; I would most gladly accept it, of this were in my power. Should I go out tomorrow at all which is doubtful from the severity of the weather, ~~however~~ I have accepted an invitation to attend the opening of the Plank road between Lancaster and Petersburg.

With my kindest regards for Miss Frueauff & Miss Theodora I remain very respectfully your friend.
