

South Bethlehem

Dear Papa.

I received your letter and check yesterday and am much obliged. I hope you find St [sic] Augustine very pleasant and not too cool. We have had quite a spell of winter by way of variety for the last few days. You misunderstood me about the laboratory deficit. There was none this last term. What I referred to was last June. You then sent on what was lacking so its [sic] all right now. Doubtless you have received my report by this time. I passed all but one subject but there is no reason to worry about that as it is in a minor study and the chief reason I did not pass it was that it came at the end and I was pretty well done up as we had an unusually large number of exams – eight in all. I think there is little doubt now that I will graduate in June all right after which I think I will be able to get a fairly good job. I hope they will not have a coal strike as that would make things rather demoralized. There is little of interest going on here. The other day there was a fire which burnt one of the large houses here to the ground. I have not heard from any of the boys for a good while. We are all well. Aunt Hatty joins me in sending love to you and Margaret.

Your affectionate son

Frank
