Florin		Mount Joy/East Donegal To	Mount Joy			Village now incorporated with Mount Joy Boro; it had its origin as Hertzlertown when Christian Hertzler laid out lots in 1812. Officially the hamlet was named Springville, and later when a post office was established it was named Spring Garden. In 1880 the prevalence of places named Springville and the Spring Garden prompted the new name of Florin.

					Also known as "The Ward" & "Bloody Seventh" formed from the Southeast Ward in 1869, this workingclass neighborhood was bordered by E.King St, lso known as The Ward	Lancaster City				Howard Ave & S.Queen St. It includes the two 18th century communities Adamstown & Mussertown. In the early 19th century the area attracted numerous Irish and German laborers. By mid 19th century most of Lancaster's African-American persons lived there and after the Civil War Jewish immigrants from Poland and Russia had communities in the Seventh Ward. Much of the Seventh Ward has been altered and rebuilt through urban renewal.
